Jack D. Spiro, D.H.L., Ed.D., explores the idea that nothing makes sense if there is no intrinsic and authentic purpose to our lives. Save the date or register now.

Man of Magic Speaks April 18

World-renowned comic artist and illustrator Charles Vess (B.F.A.’74/A), VCU alumnus and recipient of the Eisner and World Fantasy Awards, will talk about his new book with novelist Charles de Lint, "The Cats of Tanglewood Forest." Read more

Untold Stories of Race and Richmond

VCU Libraries hosts thought-provoking programs on Gabriel’s Rebellion and on the rich history of a lost African-American women's college that merged with Virginia Union University.
"What happened to me can happen to any one of us on any given day if we as a society do not get involved in what our justice system has become."

Marvin Anderson, on his wrongful conviction
2013 Black History Month Lecture

---

News

- Digital Pragmata: Innovation in media, scholarship
- VCU Libraries in the News
- Readers needed for Cabell Award
- Text service adds to access, goes around the clock
- Clark lectures at UT March 18

---

Events

- March 13: "Gabriel's Conspiracy: Exploring the Richmond Slave Rebellion of 1800"
- March 28: "Another Untold Story of Race and Richmond"
- April 4: "What Gives Life Meaning? A Jewish Response"
- April: Alumni Month

---

Tompkins McCaw Library for the Health Sciences launched a new online portal on women's health research. It showcases discoveries by and stories about VCU researchers and links to PubMed Central articles. VCU Libraries and the VCU Institute for Women's Health partnered on the National Library of Medicine grant-funded project. More