Just as VCU embarks on a year-long celebration of its 175th anniversary, it has a new university archivist: Jodi Koste of VCU Libraries. Said University Librarian John E. Ulmschneider in announcing her appointment, "The pace and scope of change underscore more than ever the importance of a strong university-archives program that captures and describes the rich history of our institution while informing and grounding its move ahead." More

A Step Up: Stairs Updated

Visitors to Tompkins-McCaw Library for the Health Sciences no longer have to watch their steps upon entering the building. The rough and uneven stairs are fixed. See the changes

Job Hunters: Use New Free Guide

Charting a new path? Looking for a job? Thinking about launching a new venture? VCU Libraries offers an online guide about how to research companies and industries. More
“I feel like this new library will give the students what they need to accomplish their goals.”

Stephenie Trinity, Cabell Library Undergraduate Advisory Committee member and Student Government Association delegate

Quoted in The Commonwealth Times

---

News

- Cabell semifinalists named
- TEDMED Live at VCU
- Students consider new building
- Spiro’s take on life’s meaning

Events

- April 26–May 10: Lamp exhibit
- May 10: Final day to submit theses
- May 11: Commencement
- May 23: Talk on cartoonist Billy DeBeck

---

The inaugural Digital Pragmata series of three sessions is bringing together people for learning and conversation about the digital humanities. Follow the blog and check out the videos.